MICHEL GAGNE

“What Men Don’t Tell Women About Business Today”

Michel Gagne is the Asia Pacific Director of Oxford Centre for Leadership (OXCEL). He is also an author, speaker, facilitator, and International Executive & Corporate Coach with more than 30 years of experience. Michel has worked with several Olympic Athletes from Canada, Alex Yoong and Nicol David.

Michel will give an insightful look into the inner sanctum of the business locker room. Learn what makes men tick, risk and retreat in the corporate world, and why women are often locked out of the real game.

He will share how men see business, how they see women in business, and what men would tell women if there was no consequence. Covering a range of issues, including: what truly drives men to succeed; why men fear women in the workplace; what women do naturally that undermines their careers; why banding together with other women is a losing strategy; how to show (or hide) emotion at work; how to handle attraction (or harassment); how to handle poor treatment or offensive comments; how to make sure you get credit for your work; and what men say when women leave the boardroom.

This is a talk that you don’t want to miss. Michel will reveal everything you need to know and understand; especially the language and actions of men in business in a way that has never before been done – straight from the horse’s mouth.
